

American Manufacturing Apprenticeship Incentive Fund

There is a new, federally funded opportunity that can help offset your hiring costs as you build your workforce.

Learn how your company can receive a $3,150 incentive for each new apprenticeship that you start and register with the Department of Labor - using the help of Apprenticely.

The funding helps you reduce your risk and makes it easier to bring on and retain talent in high-demand manufacturing roles.

Why employers are paying attention:

- Financial support of $3,150 per new apprentice, after 90 days
- Reduced hiring risk and upfront costs
- Support to advance and upskill existing employees
- Supports 120+ advanced manufacturing occupations
- A practical way to grow and strengthen your workforce

Why employers partner with Apprenticely:

- Receive free project management to implement your apprenticeships & save an average of $5,000-$10,000 per year per apprentice
- Training development and recruitment services
- USDOL sponsorship and training alignment to USDOL standards